ETHICS GUIDELINES FOR TOWN ADVISORY BOARDS AND COMMISSIONS

Members of advisory boards and commissions shall not vote on any matter in which they have a conflict of interest or an interest which reasonably might appear to be in conflict with the concept of fairness in dealing with public business. A conflict of interest or a potential conflict occurs if the outcome of the matter being considered is reasonably likely to have a direct, substantial, and readily identifiable financial impact on the member. In addition, members of the Historic District Commission and Board of Adjustment, when these boards are hearing cases, serve as quasi-judicial bodies. Pursuant to General Statute 160D-109(d), members of these boards “shall not participate in or vote on any quasi-judicial matter in a manner that would violate affected persons’ constitutional rights to an impartial decision maker. Impermissible violations of due process include, but are not limited to, a member having a fixed opinion prior to hearing the matter that is not susceptible to change, undisclosed ex parte communications, a close familial, business, or other associational relationship with an affected person, or a financial interest in the outcome of the matter.”

Any member who violates these Ethics Guidelines may be subject to removal from the board or commission. If the advisory board or commission member believes he/she has a conflict of interest then that member shall recuse himself/herself from voting on the matter. In cases where the individual member or the advisory board or commission establishes a conflict of interest, then the advisory board or commission member shall remove themselves from the voting area. Any advisory board or commission member may seek the counsel of the Town Attorney on questions regarding the interpretation of these ethics guidelines or other conflict of interest matters. The interpretation may include a recommendation on whether or not the advisory board or commission member should excuse himself/herself from voting. The advisory board or commission member may request the Town Attorney respond in writing.

Bio

Scott Badesch is the President of Badesch and Associates LLC, with offices in Silver Spring, Maryland, Chapel Hill, North Carolina and Chicago, Illinois. As President, Scott oversees a global consulting business assisting not for profit as well as profit making companies advance their work in helping enhance the quality of life of individuals impacted by autism.

Prior to serving as President of his consulting company, Scott served for ten years as President/CEO of the Autism Society of America, the nation's oldest and largest grassroots autism organization. As President/CEO, Scott directed a national network of over 70 local and state affiliates that collectively served and supported close to 625,000 people a year. During his tenure, Scott worked with an active and involved board of directors, transforming the organization and its national system of caring affiliates to what today is one of the most respected autism organizational systems in the nation and a national organization that is highly responsive, accountable, inclusive, transparent and effective.

Upon his retirement from the Autism Society of America in January 2020, Scott was recognized for not only successfully positioning the Autism Society of America as the nation's most effective autism grassroots organization, but also for how he transitioned the organization from having a large deficit in 2010 to his leaving the organization with a sizable and healthy fund balance. Scott has testified before Congress and before the Illinois, Texas, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Florida legislatures. Scott also has a very strong working understanding of establishing as well as evaluating human services programs and how best to fund and operate such programs. He also regularly advises people of wealth as well as corporations on the best ways to address the needs of individuals and families in need. Scott was also recognized by two members of Congress in 2020 for his leadership in helping with the passage of the Autism Care Act and was provided a framed copy of the actual bill which was signed by President Trump. Scott also was invited to the Oval Office in 2014 to discuss with President Obama the needs of the autism community and was present when President Obama signed an earlier version of the Autism Cares Act..

Scott came to the Autism Society of America after serving as CEO of the Autism Society of North Carolina. Prior to serving with the Autism Society, Scott had a 24 year career with United Way, having served as President/CEO of the United Way of South Carolina as well as the United Way of Palm Beach County and having served as the Director of Services for the United Way of Suburban Chicago. Prior to his work with United Way, Scott served as the President/CEO of the Northwest Services Coordination, an organization in the northwest suburbs of Chicago and before that he was the Director of Programs for the Area Agency of Suburban Cook County. During Scott's career, he has helped raise close to $600,000,000 US dollars

Scott is an internationally recognized leader in visioning, strategic planning, organizational development, fundraising and funding, transformation of organizations, program development, government advocacy, outcome measurements and partnership development. As President/CEO of the Autism Society of America, Scott led a major transformation of the organization to its current standing as a very strong, focused and effective measurable outcome based organization helping individuals with autism each day to maximize their quality of life. Scott also is regularly asked to speak at national and international conferences and meetings on transformation of organizations, strategic planning, program development, funding options for program development, fundraising and outcome measurements. Scott also volunteered with United Way International helping set up United Ways in Israel, China and supported an effort for a United Way in Jordan. Scott has also helped advance support to people with autism who reside in Qatar and Saudi Arabia.

Scott's consulting work with Badesch and Associates LLC includes, but is not limited to helping NGOs and corporations transform into ongoing relevant and supportive entities, assisting NGOs with development and implementation of capital fundraising and general fund raising campaigns and program development. Scott also assists start ups in their efforts to advance employment opportunities for adults with autism as well as advancing the use of technology for training individuals impacted by autism and helping startups best position their products and services within the autism community. Scott also is working with investors and philanthropists to examine investment opportunities benefiting the autism community as well as helping private companies and startups develop and place needed products within the autism community. Scott is well respected as having a full understanding of post secondary options for autistic students, financing of post secondary educational options and has a complete understanding on how to successfully navigate state and federal government programs for individuals with a disability. Scott's work with Badesch and Associates LLC also includes public advocacy on behalf of the firm's clients and helping NGO organizations conduct a search for a new CEO.

Scott has been the recipient of numerous local, state and national awards and recognition. He holds a Masters Degree from the University of Chicago School of Social Services Administration and has a Bachelor's Degree from the University of Illinois. He is the past chairman of the CPSD (Collaboration for Self Determination), Caring Foundation and currently serves as the chair of the Autism Science Foundation. Scott has been married for 38 years to Phyllis Badesch (Upshaw) and has four amazing adult children, a wonderful son in law, and two very beautiful and much loved grandsons. Scott is a lifelong volunteer and currently volunteers with a local arts based program for at-risk kids, helping a Chicago based child protection agency with their government affairs efforts and volunteers with a feeding program for the homeless within

Washington, DC. Scott also volunteered in 1975 at a Vietnamese Resettlement Camp helping refugees relocate within the USA. He also has extensive disaster relief leadership work in responding to hurricanes.

Scott and his wife reside in Chapel Hill, North Carolina. .
