New Business

5. 260 Glandon Drive [26-0004]

Vice Chair Daniels asked if there were any conflicts of interest and there were none.

Brian Jensen, the property owner, was sworn in and explained that the house is a non-contributing building. He said the house is noted in the design standards as breaking with the district's architectural style. He presented site images and stated that proposed changes will not be visible from Glandon Drive but may be visible from Ridge Lane. Jensen explained the project will include filling an interior pool, repurposing the space, and replacing a plexiglass roof with a shingled roof matching the existing roof. Jensen said the project also includes adding skylights, clerestory windows, and a stainless steel flue, as well as removing lattice on the west elevation and replacing it with matching siding. He explained that a new window on the north elevation will only be visible from the interior courtyard.

There were no questions from commissioners.

There were no public comments.

Commissioner Gurlitz said the proposed changes are consistent with the house's style.

Commissioner Moore moved, seconded by Gurlitz, that the application is not incongruous with the special character of the district and requested staff and counsel to prepare the written decision. The motion carried by a unanimous vote.

6. National Register of Historic Places (NRHP) Nomination - Coker Hills

[26-0005]

Phill Lyons, a representative of Preservation Chapel Hill, presented the Coker Hills National Register nomination. He explained that he has been working with the Coker Hills Homeowner's Association on the process. In response to the commission's questions about public notice of the meeting, staff explained that the State Historic Preservation Office prepared a legal ad and staff included information in the Town's electronic newsletter. Lyons stated that most property owners support the nomination and confirmed that the proposed historic district boundary matches the neighborhood conservation district boundary. Hornik clarified that a national historic district does not impose additional oversight. Staff shared a letter received with public comment.

Vice Chair Daniels moved, seconded by Gurlitz, that the nomination meets the criteria and recommended it be listed, authorizing him to sign the statement. The motion carried by a unanimous vote.

Discussion

Vice Chair Daniels, on behalf of Commissioner McCormick, shared concern over the reception of their work to proclaim May as Historic Preservation Month in Chapel Hill. The commission discussed options to increase historic preservation awareness and agreed to add the topic to future meeting's discussion items.
