As a member of the Public Health Reserve Corps, American Red Cross and Disaster Response Network of North Carolina I have been involved as a citizen with a range of community resilience efforts and have found the community policing efforts of the Chapel Hill Police Department to be an essential element for a safe and supportive environment for all citizens. My most recent efforts with the town of Chapel Hill's outreach to the Muslim community has convinced me that I can further support these efforts by participating in this advisory board.

I am currently applying for re-appointment to the Community Police Advisory Committee. I have found this a meaningful and positive role in addressing community/police relations while strengthening the professional standards/integrity of the police. I have been heartened to see the consistent efforts towards greater workforce diversity and enhanced training programs to address implicit bias and de-escalation techniques to safely resolve crisis situations. I am eager to participate in this effort to build community resilience.

Ethics Statement

ETHICS GUIDELINES FOR TOWN ADVISORY BOARDS AND COMMISSIONS

Members of advisory boards and commissions shall not discuss, advocate, or vote on any matter in which they have a conflict of interest or an interest which reasonably might appear to be in conflict with the concept of fairness in dealing with public business. A conflict of interest or a potential conflict occurs if a member has a separate, private, or monetary interest, either direct or indirect, in any issue or transaction under consideration. In addition, members of the Historic District Commission and Board of Adjustment, when these boards are hearing cases, serve as quasi-judicial bodies. Pursuant to State Statute 106A-388(e)(2), members of these boards “shall not participate in or vote on any quasi-judicial matter in a manner that would violate affected persons’ constitutional rights to an impartial decision maker. Impermissible violations of due process include, but are not limited to, a member having a fixed opinion prior to hearing the matter that is not susceptible to change, undisclosed ex parte communications, a close familial, business, or other associational relationship with an affected person, or a financial interest in the outcome of the matter.” Any member who violates these Ethics Guidelines may be subject to removal from the board or commission. If the advisory board or commission member believes he/she has a conflict of interest then that member should ask the advisory board or commission to be recused from voting. The advisory board or commission should then vote on the question on whether or not to excuse the member making the request. In cases where the individual member or the advisory board or commission establishes a conflict of interest, then the advisory board or commission member shall remove themselves from the voting area. Any advisory board or commission member may seek the counsel of the Town Attorney on questions regarding the interpretation of these ethics guidelines or other conflict of interest matters. The interpretation may include a recommendation on whether or not the advisory board or commission member should excuse himself/herself from voting. The advisory board or commission member may request the Town Attorney respond in writing.

I am both a community member and University member which I think is very important because I believe our communities should could be better integrated and hope to work toward that goal. With regards to policing specifically, I have previous experience working with community policing at a campus level (beyond my experience on the town committee) and, as a semi-recent resident of Chicago, am well versed in many of the modern challenges to police, University and City police collaboration, Federal and local interactions (especially through the impacts of policing on the local Catholic communities), and work from a social and racial justice perspective to ensure that we both have equitable policing and equitable access to police services.

Beyond my current experience on CPAC which I value highly, locally, I am involved in a range of activism. From NAACP Committees (Education & Religious Affairs), Orange County Justice United through my church, a number of ltes in local newspapers, ACLU, NARAL, CRE and more. I served as the Campus Safety Advocate, a cabinet level position in student government, at UNC. I built up a degree of community organizing acumen during my school board campaign and have become especially aware of the nature of community today. I am very interested in social and racial justice in general and am generally able to keep abreast of current literature at local, state, and federal levels.

Consequences of U.S. Ethanol Policy in Energy, Economics and Distribution of Wealth
Zhang government's ethanol policies by examining current policies, the history of these policies, how ethanol is currently produced in the United States, the unintended consequences levied by these policies, possible substitute alternative fuel policies that could be pursued, and the problems and technological challenges associated with ethanol production. It will then compare academic sources, interviews conducted with noted academics and government experts, and previously published research papers on this subject matter. This will be undertaken in the hope the merits and faults of the current policies enacted by the United States governmentsurrounding ethanol. The results of this paper will demonstrate that –as it is currently structured— US ethanol policy developed largely outside of market forces, incentivizes subpar significant technological challenges, is environmentally destructive in many ways, compares Currently a graduate student at UNC Chapel Hill and a resident of Chapel Hill, I moved to the area in 2017 from Florida, where I attended the University of Florida. During my time as an undergraduate student, I was deeply involved in social justice issues on campus and in the greater Gainesville, FL community. There, I saw the Gainesville Police Department work closely with university administration to create healthier relationships with local residents, particularly residents of color, who have been unfairly targeted by law enforcement. As a member of the Community Policing Advisory Committee, I will work with the Members of the Town Council and the Chapel Hill Police Department to develop equitable and safer policies for working with residents, in particular, people of color, undocumented immigrants, and other marginalized groups. Finally, I will serve as a representative of graduate students--many of whom are international students facing legal barriers in the US.

Ethics Statement

Members of advisory boards and commissions shall not discuss, advocate, or vote on any matter in which they have a conflict of interest or an interest which reasonably might appear to be in conflict with the concept of fairness in dealing with public business. A conflict of interest or a potential conflict occurs if a member has a separate, private, or monetary interest, either direct or indirect, in any issue or transaction under consideration. In addition, members of the Historic District Commission and Board of Adjustment, when these boards are hearing cases, serve as quasi-judicial bodies. Pursuant to State Statute 106A-388(e)(2), members of these boards “shall not participate in or vote on any quasi-judicial matter in a manner that would violate affected persons’ constitutional rights to an impartial decision maker. Impermissible violations of due process include, but are not limited to, a member having a fixed opinion prior to hearing the matter that is not susceptible to change, undisclosed ex parte communications, a close familial, business, or other associational relationship with an affected person, or a financial interest in the outcome of the matter.” Any member who violates these Ethics Guidelines may be subject to removal from the board or commission. If the advisory board or commission member believes he/she has a conflict of interest then that member should ask the advisory board or commission to be recused from voting. The advisory board or commission should then vote on the question on whether or not to excuse the member making the request. In cases where the individual member or the advisory board or commission establishes a conflict of interest, then the advisory board or commission member shall remove themselves from the voting area. Any advisory board or commission member may seek the counsel of the Town Attorney on questions regarding the interpretation of these ethics guidelines or other conflict of interest matters. The interpretation may include a recommendation on whether or not the advisory board or commission member should excuse himself/herself from voting. The advisory board or commission member may request the Town Attorney respond in writing.
